

The 35th Edition Neonatal Intensive Care Annual Directory of Products and Services

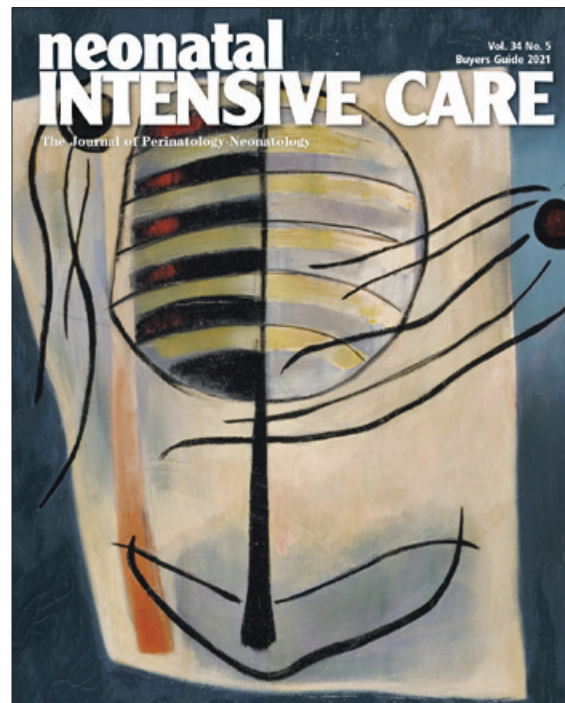

NIC's Annual Directory for neonatologists and related healthcare professionals lists all companies, products, and services for neonatal/perinatal caregivers, as well as a comprehensive archive of articles.

The Directory of Products and services is a complete one-stop resource for neonatologists, perinatologists, ob/gyns specializing in neonatology, NICU nurses, respiratory therapists, NNPs, administrators, educators, researchers, and others in the field. The Directory offers 150 categories of supplies, materials and products of all types for the neonatal ICU, including monitors, ventilators, incubators, diagnostic services, pharmaceuticals, and educational supplies, all listed both by product category and by company name for easy reference. The easy-to-use format includes full company names, addresses, key contacts, phone and fax, e-mail, and web addresses. All information is updated yearly to give you the most up-to-date listings.

The Annual Buyers Guide is the most complete listing of products and services for neonatal/perinatal caregivers, as well as a complete reference source of all the articles we've published since our inception, by article title and principal author. NIC's directory of products and services is the number one most valuable source of vital information for NICU physicians, nurses, therapists, managers, researchers and students.

Each year's Directory presents the latest information about all companies offering services and modalities of care for the NICU, including e-mail and web addresses.

Important: If you would like to update your listing in the Buyers Guide, please contact us and we will send you a form. To check your current listing, go to www.nicmag.ca, and download the PDF of the Buyers Guide issue from the Archives.

The Directory is distributed free at all the major conferences and exhibitions for neonatology/perinatology. The NIC Directory is distributed free to participants and attendees at PAS, NANN, and AARC. Our Bonus Conference Distribution of the Directory of Products & Services means you reach more of the professionals who make crucial day to day purchasing and clinical decisions.

This special annual edition of NIC is used daily by NICU professionals in hospitals in the US, UK, Europe, Asia—anywhere neonatologists practice.

Ad closing: September 10.
